1. The Chinese Communist Government has been making attempts to win over the loyalty of the Chinese staff working for the United Nations. The Communists have been asking questions and seeking all information regarding the personal history of these Chinese workers. They present the argument that these Chinese will be stranded like the white Russians when Taiwan is taken over by the Communists.
2. The Chinese Communist Government has great need of experts and specialists, such as the economist WU Ch'i-yuan. In the Chinese United Nations staff there are a good many of them, and even the lesser staff members have an attractive educational background.
